

ABOUT THE STATE

Happenings of Interest from Different Sections.

Lydia Hobbs, three-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Hobbs of Middlebury, got a button hook caught in her nose and had to have the services of a physician before it could be removed.

Dr. Benton Haynes of Grand Isle, an aged man, is in a critical condition as a result of a fall from a hammock. As he lived alone, it was two days after the accident before he was visited by anyone. He has been in a feeble condition for some time.

Burglars blew open a safe in the office of the Texas Oil company in Burlington Friday night and secured $80.31 in cash. During Saturday afternoon or Sunday forenoon someone entered the dental office of Dr. David Manson in the same city and stole gold and platinum to a considerable amount.

George P. Burbank, who for 37 years has been employed at the Ely works of the American Fork and Hoe company, finished work there Thursday. For 25 years he had been superintendent of the plant. His office associates presented him a traveling bag and a 32d degree Masonic gold ring. Mr. and Mrs. Burbank leave this fall for California, where they will make their home with a daughter. Their home has been in St. Johnsbury.

The summer residence in Brattleboro of Prof. William Walker of Yale university was partially wrecked Sunday afternoon by the explosion of a copper boiler in the kitchen. The concussion blew out windows, hurling bits of glass and screening for some distance and demolishing all the furniture and fixtures in the kitchen. Prof. and Mrs. Walker left the house in the morning and forgot to turn out the gas under the boiler.

In the fire which destroyed the barn of Abraham Fleischman in Burlington Sunday morning, 39 sheep, seven calves, one horse, one cow and one bull were burned to death. A large quantity of hides and pelts, together with harnesses and 500 milk pails were also consumed by the flames. The building had been used as a slaughter house. Mr. Fleischman estimates his loss at $12,000, only part of which is covered by insurance.

Polio Clinics in Vermont.

Vermont is coming to be recognized more and more as one of the foremost states in the nation in the work which it is doing for its crippled children through the after-care work in poliomyelitis which has come to embrace a wide field under the able direction of Miss Bertha E. Weisbrod, who took up the work in Vermont, under the state board of health, in the spring of 1919. The work has been going on, however, since 1914 and during that time hundreds of crippled children have been helped to get about with greater ease and to enjoy a fuller life through better physical and mental development.

In view of the coming polio clinics which are to be conducted again this season, beginning this week, by Drs. Robert W. Lovett and Frank R. Ober, Boston specialists who have been coming into the state since 1914 to help with this work, it is interesting to note what has been done and what plans are being contemplated for this work.

Statistics gathered recently in Vermont by Miss Catherine D. Jones, a graduate of the School of Public Health, Harvard university and Massachusetts Institute of Technology, from the records of the work since it was started in 1914, show that, of the 676 cases on record, 387 are being treated actively at the present time. During the year from April 1, 1920, to April 1, 1921, 463 patients have been seen, of which 316 were seen at clinics and 147 in their homes.

The number of patients needing operations in 1920 was 136. Of this number 72 have been operated upon; 26 refused operations; 36 are considering operation; three died or moved away. The schedule of poliomyelitis clinics throughout the state by Drs. Robert W. Lovett and Frank R. Ober of Rutland yesterday, and the complete schedule follows:

DYESTUFF KILLED FISH.

Ottawa: Quebec River Run Red After Woolen Co. Cleaned Chemical Room. Woodstock, July 6.—Thousands of fish in the Ottawa river are believed to have died as the result of dyestuff from the chemical room of the Bridgewater Woolen company mill having been washed into the river last Thursday night.

The company that day cleaned its chemical room and dumped the waste matter near the river's shore, as in the past.

It is thought that the rain of that night washed the dyestuff into the stream, which the next day was a bright red.

The changed color of the river from Bridgewater to North Hartland was noticeable all day, and not until night did the red tinge disappear.

Hundreds of fish have been found floating down stream. The water at Devere's Mills has been stocked with steelhead trout several times in the last few years, and it is believed all of these have perished.

Though cattle at many places have access to the stream, no instance of cattle being poisoned have yet been reported.
